

My first trip with Motorentures - also pretty much a novice. The learning curve was steep and ^{thankfully} there were some helpful hints, but I could probably have benefitted from some "Skills sessions". That said, it's good to be pushed and challenged and this trip did this in spades. Physically + mentally demanding in some truly wonderful scenery that I would not have considered visiting otherwise. ~~Highlight~~ I have nothing to benchmark this trip against, but Motorentures team did a great job in finding routes that could challenge a mixed ability team whilst finding fabulous lunch spots with the highlight being Kipi Village.
